ABOUT THE COLLEGE:
Queen Mary’s college, a well known Autonomous Institution, located on the famed Marina and serene atmosphere amidst a sprawling campus of 17.4 acres in Chennai, Tamil Nadu, India. Miss. Dorothy De La Hey, the founder Principal, envisioned that every student of this college should preserve her own individuality and the value of life, learn from this Institution to make her life usefulness, of service and of help. This vision has been kept alive by us as we walk proudly towards the centenary. Established in 1914, then known as “Madras Women’s College”, Queen Mary’s College has its own path towards the empowerment of women through education. It was the first government college for women in South India. Moreover, the college is the first among all the government colleges to receive the Autonomous status in 1987.
